Cuba Reported Sending Arms to British Guiana

By JERRY O'LEARY, Jr. Star Staff Writer

ping arms received from Soviet has long clamored for indepen-Russia to his Communist addence for his humid and nov-mirer, Prime Minister Cheddi erty stricken land. The 45-Jagan of British Guiana, in- year-old Prime Minister is an and Portuguese peoples who formed Government sources avowed Communist and an angle of groups there. disclosed today.

Two shiploads of arms reportedly left the Cuban port of Mariel recently for Georgetown in British Guiana.

official said the Guianese described the arms as "old United States rifles needed for training purposes." However, it was considered unlikely that Dr. ish Guiana's farmers and shoot Guiana's defense and foreign of the color of Jagan would settle for obsolete ish Guiana's farmers and shopequipment with so many new keepers. Czech arms already in possession of Communist Cuba.

An Avowed Communist

This was the first confirmed case of what the United States has long warned — that Mr. Castro would use his island as a transshipment point for arms to Communists everyhere south of the Rio Grande.

British Guiana, about the size of Kansas, lies on the southern rim of the Caribbean, 1,400 miles east of the Panama Canal - nearly twice as far from the waterway as Havens Dr. Jagan, who is of East Fidel Castro has begun ship- Indian descent and a dentist. open admirer of both Soviet form minority groups there, Premier Khrushchev and Mr. also oppose Dr. Jagan's policies. Castro.

dominated Peoples Progressive A United States Government Party in the colony. Its greatest membership is among the are Negroes with the Asians

He is bitterly opposed alongracial lines by many of the colony's Negroes, led by anti-Communist Linden Burnham. The white, Chinese

See GUIANA, Page A-6

Continued From Page A-1 About 48 per cent of the col-Dr. Jagan heads the Red ony's half million people are East Indian and 42 per cent

The British retain control of Guiana's defense and foreign policy, but the country is run by a constitution granted in 1961. This provided for an elective legislature with veto powers reserved to a crownappointed governor, Sir Ralph Francis Gray. Full inde-pendence, however, long has been withheld with the United Kingdom apparently determined to wait until there is a non-Communist government there.

A British official recalled that there have been reports over a period of more than a year that Dr. Jagan has provided jungle training camps for Mr. Castro, that there are missile bases in the jungle back country and that as many as 2,000 Cuban "tourists" have been seen in British Guiana.

"We don't dismiss these reports," he said, "We just don't have any evidence that they are true. The point is, we have got troops there and we are still in charge."

There is considerable com-merce between Cuba and the crown colony since British Guiana supplies Cuba with rice. However, the ships, in general, come to the colony in ballast.

Grianese Called Docile

The official said he could not imagine who Dr. Jagan would train with the reported weap-ons from Cuba. The most dan-gerous elements there are members of the Guianese United Youth movement. The official said these are leather-jacketed youths who "roar about on motor bikes."

The Guianese, he said, are a docile people who fear and dislike the jungle interior and are well content to live in the heavily populated coastal zone. They would not be likely, he added, to go into the back country in result. country in revolt.

"Revolt against whom?" he asked. "After all, they (Dr. Jagan's supporters) are the government. The average member of Jagan's PPP party is not attracted by Communist or Marxist beliefs. There is such a clique, however, and Jagan is capable of considerable mischief just to remain in the limelight."

Dr. Jagan visited Washington in 1961 and, after calling on the President, received some United States aid largely in the form of technical surveys of the underdeveloped country.